What is the tariff rate in Guyana?

Guyana maintains a Common External Tariff (CET) rate that ranges from 5 percent to 20 percent. A tariff rate of 40 percent applies only to agricultural products. All duties are value added. The customs act allows for the National Assembly to impose import or export duties on any goods.

What is the difference between tariffs and duties in Guyana?

In Guyana, tariffs are specific taxes imposed on goods entering the country, while duties pertain to the taxes on exports. The structure of these tariffs and duties is informed by various factors, including product classifications and trade agreements, ultimately influencing the cost of goods for traders operating within this jurisdiction.

How to comply with export regulations in Guyana?

Moreover, compliance with export regulations in Guyana is not limited to just the internal processes. Exporters must also be cognizant of the regulations that affect the destination country. Some nations impose tariffs, quotas, or import permits, which can significantly impact the ease with which goods are received.
